There is still a deep interest felt and the good work is going on. More are still coming to the altar and the pastor and members are laboring hard.

-It is pretty senerally believed that the strange dog which, week before last, ran amuck in Titusville and vicinity biting other dogs, cows, sheep and other animals, and was finally killed at Cooperstown, was J W. Landers' red Irish setter, "Jeff" This dog disapprared very suddenly on Wednesday evening, 10th inst, and Mr Landers has been unable to get any trace of him since, and as the og which turned up at Titusville on the Saturday following answers the description of "Jeff" it seems pretty well settled they were one and the same. The dog gave no evidence of being affected with rabies before leaving, and it "mad" the fit must have come on him very suddenly No person was bitten by the dog.

Amos Walton, Near Marienville, Ends Lives of Man and Wife and Blows

Top of His Own Head Off. A tragedy, the like of which for number of people slain has perhaps never before been known in Northwestern Pennsylvania, was enacted in the eastern end of Kingsley township, this county, on Friday morning last about 10 o'clock, and as a result of which the following persons are dead: WARREN BRIGGS, aged about 26

MRS. WARREN BRIGGS, his wife, aged about 22 years. AMOS WALTON, aged about 51 years. The habitations of these people are located close to and on either side of the public road on the hill about half a mile beyond Muzette postoffice, and about six miles from Marienville, Walton was a man of ungovernable temper, especially so when drinking, but at this time was sober according to the best evidence. Some time ago be purchased the household effects of Briggs and the latter had gone away, and Walton took the family, consisting of Mrs. Briggs and three children, ranging in age from five months to four years, to his own domicile, just across the road, and was living there with them. Not long ago Bri gs reappeared on the scene, and was living in his own house with his father, G. L. Briggs, and a brother aged about 14 years. On Wednesday Briggs accused Walton of abusing his children, and after some hot words, went to Marienville and made information against Walton. Thursday Constable Mohney, with a deputy, went to Walton's house, arrested him and took him to Marienville.

Friday morning, on the pretense that he wanted to subpoens some witnesses in his defense, he was permitted to return to his home. Reaching there he found that Mrs. Briggs had taken the children and gone back to the home of her husband. after calling at the house and serving the subpoena on Mrs. Briggs, he left in a sulten mood and went back to his own house. The elder Briggs, noting the man's anger and fearing him, left the house and started in the direction of Marienville. What occurred after that is gathered from the story of the 14-year-old Briggs boy, Walton returned shortly armed with a 44-catiore Winchester rifle. A. Warren Briggs was coming out of the barn leading his horse which had been harnessed Walton fired on him, the ball scriking him near the center of the breast and coming out at the back under the left shoulder. He dropped in his tracks a d apparently did not move again. Enterng the house Walton called Mrs. Briggs from the kitchen into another room. Young Briggs heard the d scharge of the gun and he ran out of the house and down toward Muzette without stopping to see what had seen done, but believing that Walt n had shot Mrs Brigg . On the way he met a young man named Dailey to whom he reported the tragedy. Dattey hurried back to the scene and there found the dead beay of Briggs, but did not enter the house, but took the rig which Walton had brought from Marienville, drove to Vowinckel, about three has apparently mastered the secret of ville that Walton had killed Mr. and Mrs. raising good apples and wintering them Briggs, not knowing at the time that the murder- r had also committed suicide.

In the meantime Constable Mohney was again sent after Waiton, seeing he did not return to Ma ienville as prompt ly as he sh uld have done. When he reached the scene, about 12:45 o'clock, he carnage that had been wrought by Wal- deats of this place for a number of years ton. Briggs was lying as he had fallen. Mrs. Briggs was lying in the room in a pool of blood, a builet hile through her presst, and Walton lying near her with death of almost the entire top of his head blown off. After shooting Mrs. Briggs, Walton had turned the gun on himself, thus ending the whole horrible affair. Constable Mohney sent a message to Marier ville to notity the authorities and Justice C. H. Wilton, seting coroner, empanelled a jury consisting of D. J. Murphy, J. H. Russell, Charles Thompson, David Raifsnyder, A. B. Kime and George Chadwick, who held an inquest, and upon view of the bodies and from all the evidence gathered, returned a verdict practically in accordance with the facts

Amos Walton was a man of unsavory record. Several times he had been before the courts of this county on charges which showed the evil nature of the man. Once he was convered of viciously assaulting a tellow workman with an axe, cutting a word to West Hickory. Frank Young of herrible gash in the man's head and slarm was made and a search for his Nebraska has rented Mr. Potter's house hearly ending his life. About four weeks whereabouts begin. Whether he met with foul play or betook himself to parts ago, at his own home, he shot George Agnew of Leeper in the side, but luckily the wound was not serious and Agnew recovered and nothing was done about it, At this time he had been drinking, and as he told afterward, he shot to kill Agnew. Walton's father, who has been dead nearly thirty years, was a respected resident of Jenks township for many years. His name was William and he came from Philadelphia to Jenks township nearly tifty years ago. The mother, Mrs. Kate Walton, still lives near the old homestead, four miles from Marien-

RECENT DEATHS.

WATSON. Otto Carl Watson, son of Wm, H. and Mary E. Watson of Barr's Corners, Rockland township, Venango county, Pa., was born October 21, 1895, and departed this life March 17, 1909, aged 13 years, 4 months and 24 days, after an illness of only 5 days, of diabetes. His suffering was of short duration and though intense were borne patiently to the end, though he had not been very strong for 2 years, He was of an ambitious nature and did not give up until Saturday morning, when he took his bed saying he felt tired and must rest or he could not go to Sabbath school the next morning. He was born and reared at Rockland, Venango county, and was a regular attendant of the Shannon school, and M. E. church and Sabbath school, in which he was general favorite. He was of a bright and lovable disposition and was a bright star in his circle of triends and acquaintances. as well as in the now vacant home, where his foot-steps will never more echo. He will always be remembered by his many friends who gathered at the home on Friday evening to pay their last tribute of respect, when the funeral services were held, being conducted by his paster, Rev.

Huitt. A quartette sang "Nearer My

With a feeling of sadness we record the leath of Mrs. Mary Jane Whaley, which cocurred on Friday, March 19, 1909. Mrs. Whaley, whose maiden name was Owen, was born in Prince Edward Co., Ontario, Canada, Dec. 22, 1829. She was married in Rouseville, Pa., to S. S. Whaley, Aug 2, 1870. Soon after their marriage they came to Forest county to live, moving t Braceville for a time, then moved to Enleavor, boarding the men for Wheeler & Dusenbury for 19 years, where she wa much loved by a large circle of friends and highly respected by all who knew her. Her kind words and gentle, uplifting influence came like a benediction into the life of many a young man, who will cherish her memory long and tenderly. Mrs. Whaley gave her heart to the Lord when a young girl and united with the M. E. church, and since that time so has been a faithful and consistent Christ-
